I wish to advise members that Bill McNamara from Brisbane, Australia passed away early in October, 1993.

Bill was a personal friend of mine and one of our significant collectors in the Australian Carnival Glass Club.

He was best known for his specialty of drink sets and in later years had put together a very impressive range of punch sets.

He was well known by many Americans and he will be missed by his American and Australian friends alike.

I am delighted that his wife Marge will be carrying on with the collection so that his memory will always remain with us.

Dick J. Jamieson

May I say how sad to inform you that Bill just passed away last October 11, 1993, while he was confined in a private hospital.

Indeed, as a member of this Association, Bill and I were able to have friends and were able to increase our Carnival Glass collection over the years.

With loving regards to you and the rest of the H.O.A.C.G.A. members.

A PEEK INTO THE PAST - - IN CARNIVAL GLASS
BY JOHN & LUCILE BRITT

We are going to take another Peek Into The Past and look at the glass from part of the Jim and Marlene Mogg collection and also a part of the Coolie and Marge Miller collection. This auction was held April 25, 1981 and was held at the Holiday Inn in Overland Park, Kansas as part of the 1981 H.O.A.C.G.A. Convention. Frank Fenton was the featured speaker at the Banquet at that Convention. John Woody was the auctioneer. Many rare pieces from both of these collections were auctioned off at an earlier time. Here are the prices received for the auction glass:

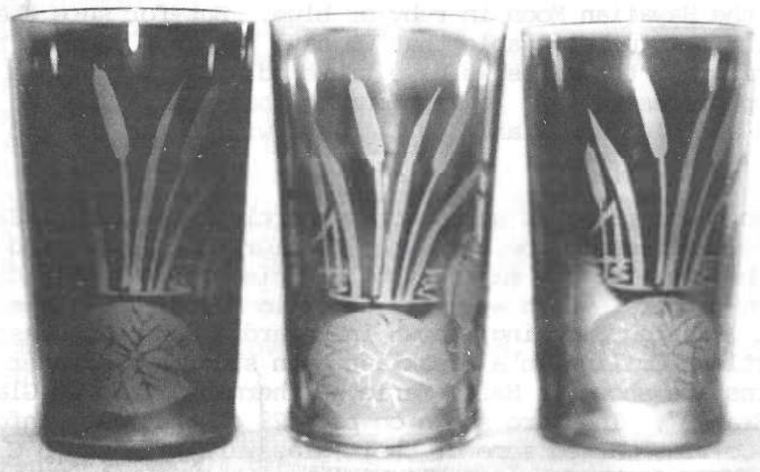
EDUCATIONAL TUMBLERS SERIES

BY JOHN & LUCILE BRITT



UPDATE ON THE LATE WATERLILY TUMBLERS

When we wrote about the Late Waterlily (Lily Pond) tumblers in the March, 1991 H.O.A.C.G.A. Bulletin, we were not sure who made these pretty tumblers. Also at that time we knew of only the marigold and cranberry colors. After the Bulletin had came out in March, 1991, WEsley Strain, a long-time friend and knowledgeable collector told us that he had also seen these tumblers in blue and red. That really put us on the search. We were bound to find one in those colors. It took us over two years to find one in blue and we still have not seen one in red.

Another interesting point in updating the Late Waterlily tumblers is that examples of the cranberry tumblers in this pattern have been found with narrow panels or ribs on the interior. These are not too noticable, but they are definately there. Tumbler collector Michael Cain from Tennessee discovered these tumblers.

At the Texas club convention in February, 1993 we were shown a book by Jane Dinkins that we had not seen before. The book is called "The Decorated Tumblers" by Hazel Marie Westherman. We were not long in purchasing one of these very interesting books. This book illistrates the Late Waterlily and its sister pattern Hawaiian Moon both in the four colors. The pattern was called Lily Pond and the colors were described as ruby lustre, amber lustre, burgandy lustre and blue lustre.

The pretty Hawaiian Moon tumblers are also known in these four colors. We have yet to see the Hawaiian Moon in ruby or blue. But for sure they are out there somewhere. It is unbelievable that we have not seen them in those colors, considering all the miles we have traveled. Every year, we make out a list of the top pieces we want to find during that year. The red Late Waterlily and the red and blue Hawaiian Moon tumblers will be at the top of our 1994 list.

Both of the above named patterns were made by Bartlett-Collins of Sapulpa, Oklahoma. A large section in the Decorated Tumbler book is devoted to Bartlett-Collins tumblers. The big majority of the pieces are not iridised, however. The Twitch pattern, which we wrote about in March, 1984 is a Bartlett-Collins pattern. Panaled Smocking, shown in Edward's Carnival Glass book, was also made by Bartlett-Collins in a breakfast open sugar and creamer set. These two patterns are shown in Hazel Marie WEsthermans "Colored Glassware of the Depression Era #2". They are shown on page 29 of that very informative book. Bartlett-Collins marked some of their glassware with the B C mark, but we have not seen any of the Carnival Glass pieces that contained that mark.

This updated article on the Late Waterlily tumblers is #190 in our Educational Tumbler Series. Next month we will cover the rare Panelled Thistle tumbler.

PICTORIAL PATTERN PARADE

By John & Lucile Britt

THE HEAVY PINEAPPLE BOWL

We started collecting Carnival Glass in 1969 and it was in January of 1993 that we viewed this pattern for the first time. We could not find it listed in the Presznick Carnival Glass books, but it is shown in Hartung book 9 on page 70. Bill Edwards also lists and illustrates this pattern in his book. He states that it is only the second example of Heavy Pineapple to have been reported. We consider this pattern as very rare.

While working with Carnival Glass patterns we have found that realism was not a necessary ingredient by glass designers. On this particular pattern, for example, the large pineapples appear to be growing on trees. Nevertheless, this is a very attractive and most unusual pattern. It is a Fenton pattern and has been reported in large three footed fruit or orange bowls in marigold, blue and white. They are made very similar to Fenton's large Stag & Holly footed fruit bowls.

The bowl shown above is ten inches wide and 4 3/4 inches high. This one is of good rich marigold with very fine iridescence. The pattern is on the exterior only. There are three of the large clusters of pineapples that are evenly spaced around the bowl. The design is heavy raised. This rare and attractive bowl is one that you might want to look for on your Carnival Glass hunting trips.

This marks the 178th entry into our Pictorial Pattern Parade series. Next month we will cover the Elks nappy by Dugan.

A LOOK AT TABLE SETS

By Chuck & Marge Kremer

THE SINGING BIRDS TABLE SET

This is one of the better known Northwood patterns and a real beauty. The four piece table set was made in marigold, green and scarce amethyst. At a quick glance this appears to be a "fat" or bulging design which makes it look a little heavy. But look closely - there is no other table set that can match it for variable design. Each piece has four birds dominating the pattern and no two are alike. Sixteen different birds!

Four rows of what resemble tiny beads outline the handles. For better grip or design? Anyway we have seen quite a few bruises or chips on this area. If every pattern has its minor damage point, this sure is the one for Singing Birds. When it comes to the butter dish we normally say the "Birds go together." Northwood's Singing Birds and Peacock at the Fountain butter dishes share the same base design. The top side of the base has a flower motif and the underside is plain.

In her Book 1, Mrs. Hartung sketched this pattern and in the description she said "When found in deep purple base glass with a bronze iridescence, it is-rich-looking pattern indeed." She said it all - the Singing Birds set is a knockout. As much as we like our amethyst set, our marigold set is right up there with it. It is a super rich dark marigold and well matched. Our marigold and amethyst sets were purchased complete. We have not found a green set, so we are attempting to put one together a piece at a time. Absolute Mint sets are tough to find.

This is the seventeenth in our series on table sets.

FINE CUT FLOWER COMPOTE

I received a letter from Dorothy Campo in response to the article about the FINE CUT FLOWER compote. She has one in green. She wondered if I had ever heard of one in green.

Does any one out there have a GREEN COMPOTE? The description of Dorothy's sounds just like the marigold compote.

Would you compote and goblet collectors PLEASE, let us hear from you! THANKS!

ON THE AUCTION TRAIL WITH CHUCK & MARGE

SEPTEMBER 24-25, 1993: Seeck Auctions sold glass from three collections at St. LOuis, Missouri. We went to the auction thinking 225 vases were too many for one auction--and we left with the same opinion. Overall the vases sold better than we expected. There were too few high end pieces, a sizeable portion of middle priced glass and many low end pieces. There were good buys in all the catagories.

The handling of the sale was above reprach. Jim, Vern and crew did their usual professional job. But, as we reviewed the notes printed in the brochure and those we wrote in, there were just too many "chipped, cracked, epoxy, etc." notes to give this auction a gold star.

OCTOBER 2, 1993: Mickey Reichel Auction at Booneville, MIssouri. What an ordeal for us! We should have stayed home from a purely physical standpoint. A six mile traffic tieup at the Chain of Rocks bridge over the Mississippi River at St. Louis was just a sample of what was to come. Our attendance at the sale was doubtful until the last minute so we had to take a motel away from Booneville. This would have not been a problem if the Missouri River bridge at Booneville had been open giving us an alternate route between our motel and the auction site.

The I-70 bridge was the only one open over the Missouri River so we had to endure a hour and 20 minute delay Friday night on our way back to the motel after going to view the glass. Saturday morning on our way to the auction I-70 traffic was normal in both directions, but it was a different story after the sale. This time we had a hour and 45 minute delay because of road work on the I-70 bridge. After the sale we wanted to go north to visit relatives, but with three bridges over the Missouri River we could use all closed due to high water, plus a few major highways as well, we had no choice except to go back through the construction site the second time. In single file we creeped along and waited and creeped along at the speed of a brisk walk through the 8 mile traffic jam until we came to the problem point where we zipped through at over 30 miles per hour. We still don't understand the logic of it all. We do know the auction was on the wrong side of the river for us.

Was it all worth it? Yes, we did get to visit Marge's sisters even though we did run into another slight problem - a Model T Ford rally in Marge's home town. This is a side trip or route home when we attend a sale in Booneville.

We drove 540 miles to the auction for one piece of glass--and didn't buy it because someone violated an unwritten rule in our book and attempted to "fix" a chip. Disappointed--yes! Had it not been for our visit with Marge's sisters we would have been downright unhappy. Setting aside our "one piece dis appointment", we were treated to a super sale. Mickey had it all going in the right direction. Overall there was a lot of good glass. The sale was well advertised emphasizing the quality of the glass. As a result buyers from Florida, to Maryland, to Washington State and points in between were in attendance--plus a ton of mail bids. In our opinion, prices were very good throughout the sale.

The saying goes "good glass sells itself." We would like to modify it a bit. It takes good glass well advertised to make a sale and when the momentum builds up it drags all the pieces along with it. In our opinion, most everything was right this time.

OCTOBER 14-17, 1993: Air Capital Carnival Glass Club Convention, Wichita, Kansas. We took three days to drive the some 825 miles to Wichita in order to arrive somewhat refreshed for the Thursday evening dinner that marks the start of the Convention. This Convention is one of our favorites. It is always well organized and enjoyable.

The dinner Thursday night and the closing breakfast Sunday morning, both provided by the Club, anchor the Convention. In between there is the educational session, auction and banquet, but there are other things that make this one special.

To be successful there has to be a leadership group--club members living nearby certainly work hard to make everything run smoothly. The hotel caters to our every need--whole floors are devoted entirely to our people. An then there are the unpublicized extras, like the car caravan that takes us to see local collections, the homemade ice cream made by club members, and what has to be one of the best Hospitality Rooms going. Our favorite cookie is there in an almost endless supply every year. Does it sound like we enjoyed ourselves? Yes, we surely did. We even sampled the meat balls, homemade summer sausage, barbequed lil'l weiners, candy, etc. in between cookies.

Oh yes--there was an auction. By now you probably have guessed we didn't go just for the auction. Seeck Auctions conducted the auction. It was a successful sale, but we would have liked to have seen more top end glass.

This Convention is a "must" for us and is already on our 1994 calendar. See you all there!

DRAGON AND LOTUS AMETHYST SPATULA FOOTED RUFFLED BOWL

This article will cover the amethyst Dragon & Lotus. It should be an easy color to find, but I'm beginning to doubt this at least in some shapes. My search for an ice cream shaped collar based bowl proved futile. In Mordini's price guide between the years 1984 and 1992, only one ice cream shaped bowl was sold. John Resnik said he sold one, so I know they exist. I've never seen or heard of the nut bowls in amethyst, however one could assume they were made because they're found in marigold, blue, and green. Amethyst isn't as available as marigold.

The spatula footed is difficult to find, although the ice cream shape in the spatula footed is more plentiful. The amethyst base color ranges from lavender to purple. The iridescence is found from brilliant to silver or golden. Some have a pretty satin finish usually on the top two inches. Some are iridized so that the dragon or lotus picks up a particular color no matter what the angle. I can not imagine how that was accomplished.

AT LAST!

After approximately eight years of running under the "Wanted" in H.O.A.C.G.A. an ad for a blue Kittens saucer, I got THE call. My good friend, Harold Cox in Indiana, remembered my constant advertising for the saucer and he had been to Ohio and had seen one.

He called me, I called the owner, and we now have a saucer to go with our cup. All of this is to say that I appreciate the H.O.A.C.G.A. "Wanted" service. Now, what I need next is the blue Kittens cuspidor!

UPDATE ON "NEW FINDS"

October 25, 1993: This is for all those who wait with baited breath for the latest in "new finds". Depending upon whether you are a bon bon or plate collector, the following information may create a "cliff-hanging" situation for you. At any rate, we do like to follow through with updated information on articles we have written previously.

An elated gentleman phoned recently to say that he has found a PRAYER RUG bon bon in an unlisted size. This one is the same size as the Fenton STrawberry bon bons. Another delighted caller says he is "on the trail" of what would be the FIRST marigold Elegence plate. Both of these reports are quite exciting.

We have one marigold ruffled bowl, one pastel blue ruffled bowl, one perfect pastel blue plate, and a damaged pastel blue plate KNOWN in Elegence pattern. Quite a spread of time exists from the blue bowl Mrs. Hartung wrote about, then the purchase of the perfect blue plate at an International Convention auction in 1968, by a Dr. Beckner of Los Angeles for $1,800.00 to this report of the marigold plate. This seems further evidence that these were experimental pieces. Whether U.S. Glass, Cambridge, we cannot be certain. The marigold bowl, at least, does not appear a possibility for Northwood.

Both of these men promise pictures and further information. We will pass along any further news on these subjects.

THE THRILL OF "THE FIND"

Recently, my husband Bill and I attended an antique show here in Maryland, which started fairly late in the day. WE didn't have much time after we left the show, since most shops and malls close at 5:00 P.M., but decided to give it a try. Fortunately, the two nearby malls were staying open later due to the show.

The first one didn't have anything to offer, but the second was a different story! We found a beautiful peach opal 5½" 8 ruffled bowl to add to our collection, as well as a violet Late Waterlily and Cattails tumbler, which I'd never seen in that color. A lot of dealers still don't think Carnival came in anything but "that orange color."

But the best was yet to come and I almost missed it. I was gazing in amazement at an oridinary marigold Orange Tree bowl which was about three times too high when my husband came sailing up and asked if I'd seen the small Peacock Tail plate. I hadn't - talk about not seeing the forest for the trees! It was on the shelf above the Orange Tree bowl, with a tag which read "footed candy dish." First, there was no foot and second, it was very flat. The iridescence is light on the front but is heavier on the Wide Panel exterior and is a gorgeous blue, which just gleams on the shelf. It stands out among our small plates.

We rushed home and dragged out the H.O.A.C.G.A. Small Plates Sections, but didn't find it listed in blue. We understand from talking to Smokey Cloud, however, that at least one other is known. We would be interested in hearing from anyone who has seen or has one to compare notes.

This was an unbelievable experience since the previous week over in neighboring Virginia we had found a set of Hawaiian Moon tumblers, five of which were iridized - two marigold and one each in blue, violet and cranberry in a grubby "antique mall" and an aqua opal Dandelion mug in a flea market. I had not seen the tumbler in any color but marigold which I had purchased through a H.O.A.C.G.A. ad last year.

Of course, you can't expect something like this every week or even every month. Guess we've used up our chances for a while, but it's the "fix" that keeps all us Carnival addicts going.

AIR CAPITAL CARNIVAL GLASS CONVENTION A SMASHING SUCCESS

I suppose after a year of preparation, sweat and tears and quite honestly some worry now and then, I will have to say it was worth every minute of it.

It all began with several people checking in on Wednesday, a full day before any activity was scheduled. There were 9 rooms checked into on Wednesday. Then came Thursday when the bulk of the rooms left were occupied. I believe around 42 or 43 came in that day. Then the rest came in on Friday. Folks, this is rooms, not just people.

Our free meal was xcheduled for Thursday evening at 6:00 P.M. We could tell there was probably going to be a lot of interest in this event. We had given the hotel a headcount of 70 people. We thought this was a very good number since only 55 had pre-registered. We opened up the door and they just kept coming in and kept coming in. Soon all of the tables were filled and they were still coming. We began to set up more tables and when the dust settled we had 89 for a record attendance at this function. WE had plenty of food however, so all went well.

Friday was to be our Grape & Cable educational program at 4:00 P.M. Was this ever the educational program of all programs! I suppose we had 175 to 200 pieces of the most beautiful Grape & Cable by Northwood ONE WILL EVER SEE IN A LONG TIME. Everyone who brought the pieces to share with us are to be thanked over and over again. To top off the affair, we had Richard Cinclair as the narrator. We call on Richard alot to help us out with our programs. As usual he was outstanding with his presentation and knowledge of the glass. Our Hospitality Room was open throughout the day and was visited by about all the folks attending. One gentleman made several trips in and out. We will not mention any names but I believe he lives in Indiana some place up that way. After several trips, we asked him what and where was he putting all of that food. He said, Oh, I am taking this candy and cookies to my wife. Well he had us snowed until we found his wife is a diabetic now explain that one C_____. He would not know what to do if we did not give him a had time about our Hospitality Room. We were happy he came in and I believe everyone enjoyed our hospitality.

Now Saturday was upon us. The auction glass was set up and at 9:30 A.M. Jim Seeck and his crew were ready to roll. A good crowd attended the auction. I know well over 100 were there. Then at 6:00 P.M. we had our banquet and main speaker. We were so fortunate this year to have some items and glass given to the Club to be auctioned off. We are most grateful to all. AS I was registering a lady came by and said, here is a bowl I am donating to your Club to auction off. AS I opened up the wrapping, heart failure nearly occured. There laying before me was an aqua opalescent Peacocks on the Fence bowl. Needless to say I have not fully recovered as yet. What a wonderful thing for the Club. Among the other things donated were as follows: a jean jacket, neck pillow, afghan, hand made wooden box and a clock made out of Carnival Glass set into a wood base.

Sunday morning around 55 people came to the free breakfast before starting on their long journey homeward.

There were a lot of displays again this year. It was so hard to pick a winner as they were all winners as far as I was concerned. First place went to Ruth Green, 2nd place to the Hostetlers and third place to the Hamiltons.

We had lots of new people attending our Convention for the first time. This is always very encouraging to see new folk each year. I believe when they were asked to stand up about 20 first timers were in attendance.

Our speaker this year was Chuck Kremer. We called Chuck and asked him if he would be our speaker. First thing Chuck said was I never have anything to talk bout. When have you ever known Chuck not to be able to think of anything to talk about?? He was terrific when he talked about table sets and such. What a display of them he had to show us as well as talk about.

WE had a midnight auction at about 9:00 P.M. and that was well attended. Thanks to those folks who donated some glass to the Club to be auctioned off at this event. This was on Friday evening after we looked at the auction glass.

I suppose I would have to say this was one of the largest conventions we have had. We have had more at the banquet over the years, but as an overall attendance and occupied rooms, this would be a record.

Here is hoping you will come see us again in 1994.

PHOTOS NEEDED FOR NEW CARNIVAL GLASS BOOK

I have just put the finishing touches on the text of a new book entitled, "The Collectors Guide To Northwood's Carnival Glass". This manuscript is now on it's way to the publisher. This text alone covers some 135 pages of information on virtually all Northwood Carnival patterns and the photographic illustrations will comprise nearly 100 additional pages. I believe it to be the most complete and up to date source of reference on Northwood Carnival ever written. It is presented in a format that should be especially helpful to the collector that is just starting out.

Glass from 4 major collections has already been photographed, however there were several items that were not available in these collections. While a few of them are extremely rare items, many are very common pieces. The collections that I photographed just did not have examples of them. That is why I am putting out the call to Club members. If anyone has good, clear, color photos of any of the Northwood Carnival pieces listed here, I would really like to hear from you. Of course, all who can contribute photos will receive full acknowledgement in the book.
