INVERTED STRAWBERRY CANDLESTICKS

By Alan & Lorraine Pickup

The Cambridge Glass Company's Inverted Strawberry candlesticks we feel are in a class by themselves. They are a very bold intaglio pattern that feature realistic strawberries intermingled with leaves and blossoms. Green and marigold are the colors usually found, although in the Edwards/Carwile book, the 9th edition of the Standard Encyclopedia of Carnival Glass, they indicate that a rare amethyst example is known.

With a quick look back over the last ten years in the Mordini auction price reports, you will find that most years have only one or two of these candlesticks listed, and of course sometimes as a pair. Something common in the listings is the glass collector's "dirty little word," chips. These candlesticks are made with a substantial amount of glass and would have to be considered as pretty rugged. But, this candlestick sits on a scalloped bottom edge about one fourth of an inch thick that has a square rather than a rounded surface contacting the table. This square and rather sharp bottom design is very receptive to chip damage. And finding these otherwise beautiful candlesticks without any chip damage is unfortunately unusual. This is one of those carnival shapes that you may just have to do without if you have a low tolerance for damage.

But, if you are that much of a perfectionist, maybe you should be collecting cast iron banks or door stops instead of fragile, one-hundred year old glass that was made to be used and not just looked at.

Our green pair shown here have the unusual Cambridge appealing iridescence that just jumps out at you and demands attention. On a visit to one of the Cambridge museums in Cambridge, OH, you will find that the Cambridge Glass Company made lots of beautiful glass. Unfortunately, they didn't make that many patterns in carnival glass, but the carnival glass they did make are all easily recognizable and treasured by many collectors.

COCA-COLA IN CARNIVAL GLASS

By Barb Chamberlain

We just bought this Coca-Cola tumbler from a dealer on Ebay. Its arrival prompted some research.

We know that this tumbler was made by Libbey, because it is marked on the bottom with their stylized "L" trademark. Libbey Glass has a long association with glass making. Under different company names, it has produced glassware from 1818 and is still in production, as far as I know. Libbey was probably best known for their production of fine cut glass, but, of course, had to be diversified to have remained in business for nearly 200 years.

When looking for information, I went to the Carnival Tumbler website, which is maintained by Ed Perva and Yolanda Lewis, and found that Ed had two Coke tumblers. His measured 4-3/4" tall, had a base diameter of 1-7/8", and a top diameter of 2-3/4". Our tumbler has different dimensions. It is 4" tall, has a 1-13/16" base diameter, and a top diameter of 2-1/2". Don thought that ours might have been the 3 cent size Coke, and Ed's would have cost much more - 5 cents. We would agree with Ed that this is not from the classic carnival production period.

Our tumbler has "Drink" in small white block letters, with the traditional Coca-Cola script lettering also in white. The iridescence is a strong, blotchy marigold.

With the arrival of our tumbler, our memories recalled the existence of a carnival glass Coke ashtray. Don and I were both convinced that we had seen an ashtray pictured in carnival glass literature. Then we recalled that my brother, Larry Keig, had purchased a Coke ashtray many years ago. After we contacted him, he located the ashtray, and reported that it is 6" in diameter, has receptacles for three cigarettes, and a raised rectangular protrusion in the middle, presumably for a small match box. On the outer edge, molded into the top, is "Drink," and at the bottom (twice) is Coca-Cola. The writing appears between the cigarette holders. The lettering is stippled. Pressed into the base is a 44-point rayed star.

He researched and found that tumblers had sold for $80 and $85 in 1980 and 1986 respectively, and an ashtray had sold for $65.

The manufacturer of the ashtray is unknown at this time. We did find two different non-iridized ashtrays pictured in Treasures of Very Rare

Depression Glass by Gene Florence. These were made by the Akro Agate Company. Neither of the two pictured ashtrays fit the description of Larry's, so attribution of his will remain unknown.

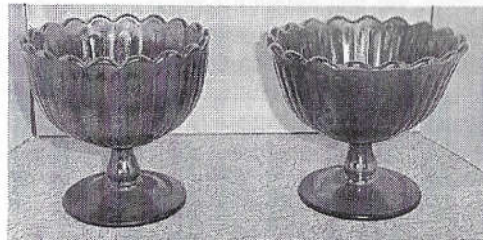

After searching our carnival books, we still haven't located the ashtray that we all thought that we had remembered. If you have information on these items, or any other carnival glass Coca-Cola items, please write either Eleanor Mochel or me and we will include this information in a future bulletin.

STIPPLED RAYS REVISITED

By Barb Chamberlain

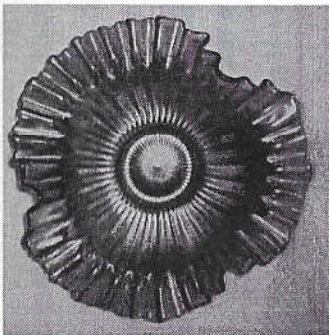

As a follow-up to my article in the January HOACGA bulletin on our Square Stippled Rays Bowl, I have had correspondence from Joe Williams and Will & Judy Schutz on their unusual pieces in Stippled Rays.

Joe has a pair of green open compotes, or open sugars as Joe would like to believe. Looking through the Butler Brother's catalog reprints, I discovered a compote that has the same stem design, but a different edge design.

I emailed the Fenton Art Glass Factory, and James Measell emailed back confirming that Joe's pieces are most likely Fenton. He suggested that the top edge could be different depending on which top edge ring was used with the mold when the pieces were made. These pieces have the stippled rays both on the interior and exterior - like the creamer and sugar that Edwards and Carwile had attributed to Imperial, but that I felt were Fenton. Still no proof has surfaced to affirm either their attribution or mine on the creamer and sugar.

Will & Judy Schutz sent a photo of their green triangular shaped large bowl - most likely a mate to our square bowl. As I was looking for Joe's compotes, I discovered an advertisement in the Butler Brothers reprints that shows our square bowl along with a six ruffle and tight candy ribbon edge bowl. The short write-up says that they ranged in size from 8-3/4" to 10" with "six fancy footed shapes, crimped and scalloped edges, each shape assorted in golden, emerald green and wine ruby colors, alternating iced and rainbow hued iridescent panel design, 1/3 doz. Each shape". Per dozen price was $1.95!

So, now we know these were production items rather than whimsies. Still, these are great items to find in a rather simple pattern. If you have a large creamer in green, Joe would love to hear from you.

OKEFENOKE TUMBLER

By Bob Smith

Had there not already been a pattern named Stork and Rushes, the name would have had to have been used for this one. As there was, this one was named after one of our more noted southern swamps - Okefenokee. It is one of a number of similar beer glasses with enameled designs. The Swallow pattern in the same genre was previously written up by John Britt. It is marigold in color.

Werner Sahn, owner of Rastal Glass in Hohn-Grenzhausen, Germany, was consulted about these types of tumblers. He has the largest private glass tumbler and stein museum in Germany located inside his factory. He states that these types of tumblers were first made after the turn of the last century in the Sudeten area of Bohemia in Czechoslovakia and were made for several decades.

These tumblers came in sets with six tumblers and a tall pitcher that usually had some German writing on it. All had pewter lids that were raised by pressing on a thumb tab. These iridized sets and tumblers are now considered very scarce to rare. The enameled stork and rushes is in the middle of the tumbler between two rows of rounded bands. There are 14 panels inside the tumbler. Measurements are: 6-3/8" high, 2-3/4" rim, 2" base. A very nice tumbler for anyone's collection.

Happy Hunting!

HOACGA AUCTION GLASS PREVIEW

By Jim & Jan Seeck

The 2005 HOACGA Convention is right around the corner. We have started working on the auction and it will be available on our web site about a month before the auction. This month we are featuring a purple Christmas compote. I asked Jim what we should photo for this month and he said, "Do the Christmas Compote, it is just so Darn Pretty!" He is right, this compote is fantastic from every point of view, the inside and the outside has super iridescence. Christmas compotes were made in purple and marigold. Both colors are extremely hard to find. This is definitely a high quality piece!

HAPPY ST. PATRICK'S DAY

BOARD MINUTES

By Ann McMorris

Minutes of the meeting of the Board for the Heart of America Carnival Glass Association in Lawrence on February 15, 2005. Board members present were President Grissom, Vice President Lacock, Treasurer Ball, Secretary McMorris and Bulletin Editor Mochel.

Planning for the 2005 convention

Bob Grissom provided an update on the discussion with Fenton about the room display souvenir and the club souvenir. The Board discussed the options and that project will now move toward completion. Various activities to be held at the convention were discussed and when all have been confirmed, the program will be completed and published. The new notebook insert on Bonbons and Nappies will be ready at convention time. The menus for the lunch and the banquet were ordered at the tasting session held in January.

Convention registration form and information were included in the February Newsletter and will be in the March and April issues also. The $1,000 cash donation drawing tickets have been inserted in the newsletter since January and entries are being received. The hospitality room will be open on Wednesday night.

Treasurer Ball reported a balance of $9,268.66 in the account. He will be preparing the annual report at the close of the club's fiscal year on February 28, 2005.

At the annual meeting held during the convention, the election of officers will be for President and Secretary.

A great part of the board meeting was taken up in discussion of preparing for various events at the convention. It takes a lot of planning for a convention to run smoothly and the officers do their utmost to make it happen.

Adjournment.

see some outstanding pieces of glass along with some very unique ways of displaying it.

ROOM DISPLAY JUDGING - will be the same as it was in 2004. The displays will not be entered in any category. The members will judge the displays. The five displays receiving the most votes will be awarded a $50 cash prize. Each member will be given a judging form in their registration packet. An educational program is being planned for Thursday evening. The subject is Human Interest Stories, which will be presented by several collectors.

SOUVENIR - We continue to work with Frank Fenton about the possibility of a Souvenir. It would be something that acknowledges the Fenton 100th Anniversary.

AUCTION - The glass to be auctioned on Saturday will be the Carl & Ferne Schroeder collection. The Seck Auction Company will present the auction. Carl & Ferne have been active collectors for about 35 years. This is another outstanding collection. This auction will feature pieces that will be suitable for any collection. This is an opportunity to add some very good pieces to your collection. This is a "Must Attend" auction for 2005. It will be an education just to view the glass. The Seck Auction Company will send a complete brochure of the auction at a later time.

BANQUET - We are very pleased to have George Fenton, President of the Fenton Glass Co. as our Banquet Speaker. The Year 2005 is the 100th Anniversary of the Fenton Glass Co. We thought it would be fitting to have a major display to be that of Fenton Glass and we think it is an honor to have George Fenton as our Banquet Speaker.

WEDNESDAY EVENING - We are again planning the Wednesday evening Hospitality Room for those that will check in for the convention early. The time and place will be announced on the Schedule of Events. We will also continue the "Dirty Bingo" after the hospitality room closes.

SILENT AUCTION - If any member wishes to donate a piece of glass, or some other item for the auction, it would be very much appreciated. Ed Kramer (913-642-3587) will be the person in charge of the auction. If you have something to donate, please call or email (dward691@aol.com).

REMINDER - FENTON DISPLAY

By Bob Grissom

Since this is the 100th Anniversary of The Fenton Art Glass Co., we are joining in the celebration of this event by having a Large (about 300 pieces) Display of Fenton glass at the HOACGA convention.

In order to be able to have a good representation of the various patterns made by Fenton, I need help from many members. I have either sent letters or emailed several members asking for a list of items that you could bring for the display. I have received several replies, but if you have not sent your lists, would you please take the time and put together your list and send them to me. I need your list as soon as you can get them to me. If I did not write or email you about a list I would appreciate your list also.

The display can only be as good as we together can make it. Thanks to those that have sent your list.

SILENT AUCTION

By Ed Kramer

Once again at the Convention-2005, it has been decided to hold a Silent Auction. This raises significant money for HOACGA. Since this helps with increased costs of conventions, etc., these days, it is worthwhile, and members seem to enjoy it. So, here is the reminder to bring a piece or two of carnival glass that you might have gotten at a bargain or have a duplicate piece of the same pattern or even something that is not carnival glass, but will raise some money for the club.

We very much appreciate our "regulars" but would like those of you who haven't participated before to join in now. We are aiming at approximately 50 items. Let me know if you will be bringing something for the silent auction. Please use "Silent Auction" as your e-mail subject as I may not recognize your e-mail address. Thanks for helping.

2005 HOACGA SOUVENIR

By Bob Grissom

The 2004 HOACGA Souvenir was the Cobalt Blue Guest Set. Since this is the 100th Anniversary of The Fenton Art Glass Company, forty-five of the 2004 souvenir sets have been decorated with a design to commemorate this Fenton milestone.

The etched on design will include the official 100th Anniversary Fenton logo along with the HOACGA logo (Good Luck Horseshoe with the Whip). They will also have a painted enameled design on the body of the Pitcher and also on the bottom of the tumbler - you can see as it sits inside the pitcher.

This will be a very limited number with this 100th Anniversary special design. There will only be 45 of these Souvenirs made. We believe it will be a fitting souvenir for this occasion. The price for this Souvenir is $120.00 (shipping cost $10.00). They may be ordered using the Pre-registration, form which is included in this bulletin.

NOTEBOOK SECTION

By Bob Grissom

This year's addition to the HOACGA Notebook is on Bonbons and Nappies. The section describes and contains information about 48 known Bonbons and 14 Nappies. Many of these are either one of a kind or only a very few known. This information is assembled for the benefit of the collector in order to add to your carnival glass information and for future reference. This section may be ordered with the Pre-registration form, which is in this bulletin, or you may purchase it at the convention.

Have you kept your Notebook up to date with all of the Sections that have been added? The Notebook was started in 1980 with Mugs being the first and new sections have been added each year, with the exception of two years. If you have not added each section to your Notebook you are missing some very good carnival glass information. Back sections will be available at the convention.

$1,000 CASH DONATION DRAWING

When thinking of a piece of glass to be given away as a prize, we found it difficult to come up with an item that we thought would be appealing to all members. So, the decision was made to offer a One Thousand Dollar cash prize. This should fit into anyone's collection. The winner can use the money to buy a piece that they would like to have, or at least make a down payment on it.

For a Ten Dollar donation to HOACGA, you can enter your name twelve times for an opportunity to win the $1,000.00. The entry forms are included in this bulletin. This will be the 3rd year we have offered a $1,000 cash prize for donations to HOACGA. Since the members seem to like buying their own glass, we will again enter your name twelve times for a ten dollar donation.

Please fill out the necessary information and return it to the Secretary, Ann McMorris, PO Box 4361, Topeka, KS 66604-0361. Your entries will be submitted for the drawing, which will be held at the Banquet on April 24, 2004. You do not have to be present to win.

To those that like to take a few chances at the Casinos...the odds may be better at this drawing!

UPDATE ON RUTH HERRINGTON

Hello, everyone.

I will try to give you an update on what is happening with my medical appts., etc.

On Saturday, January 8, 2005, I found myself in so much pain (and without relief) that I remained in a constant state of tears. Cecil took me to Kaiser's Urgent Care. They do not have facilities to "do" anything except a one-time injection to relieve the pain temporarily. So they referred me to the Emergency Room. We arrived at Kaiser Hospital at Zion about 3:00 p.m.

The ER was virtually empty and they took me directly in. Amazing! Internal Medicine reviewed my tests and records and decided that they still could find no cause for my condition and insisted that a bulging lower vertebrae was the cause. They called Orthopedics even though I explained that I had already gone that route (as well as Neurosurgery) and the back was eliminated as a cause. Even so, another Orthopedics person came down and confirmed that my problem is not spine/back/bone. He conferred with Internal Medicine and set them straight. It was decided to admit me into the hospital in an attempt to get some control over the pain.

Sunday morning, Dr. Thomas (my Primary Care Dr. who is working the hospital only right now) came in. He immediately got involved and decided to get a barrium enema x-ray done for my diverticulosis to make sure nothing was missed or hiding from the CT Scan. So I fasted for 72 hours and lost another 12 lbs. or so. During that time, I saw all 3 Drs. from the Pain Management clinic, who are perplexed. The barrium x-ray showed nothing unexpected. One Pain Dr. came in that afternoon and gave me 2 injections designed to be "nerve blocks" but they did not accomplish the desired result. The pain increased greatly in my right leg for 2 days after those injections and my right leg remains somewhat weakened. Not happy!!!

Meanwhile, Dr. Thomas adjusted my pain meds. My 2 daughters and Cecil finally made their point that the Morphine I was taking was changing my personality. I was agitated, irritable and short tempered. Dr. Th. changed me to Dilaudid (another narcotic) that was having much better results, but had to be taken every few hours. He then put me on a patch for continued coverage along with an oral medication. This combination is now working well enough for me to be functional and I feel much better. With a handle on controlling the pain, it was decided to send me home Saturday afternoon (after 7 days in Hospital). I went to church on Sunday morning and was happy to be there.

Dr. Phillip (Pain Dr.) suggested that I see Neurology... who can test specific nerves for the source... then they can do a nerve block on the proper nerve. Good idea! I will be contacting Neurology this week to set up the tests. Oh, by the way.

It is comforting to know that all of the Pain Drs. are anesthesiologists and are experts in this type of thing. I have a new understanding for their specialty.

So, I am home and am functioning on some level. We realize that we will not be doing any traveling this year since we are suspicious that the narrow foot area in our van may have contributed to the "pinched" problem. We will not be attending any conventions this year. Our priority is to get this thing under control. Meanwhile, I have had a thorough going over in many areas that had been ignored for many years. Now, it is discipline over my life style and activities that is the focus.

Once again, I thank you for all your wonderful concern and care. The problem is not resolved, but I am feeling somewhat better and can function. I even cooked dinner tonight! Thank you for all your e-mails and phone calls. I will keep in touch from time to time. At least, I am catching up on my e-mails. I have a certain amount of computer work to do in the next few weeks for taxes, but I will take it slow and easy. I love hearing from you all. Keep in touch. I send my love and appreciate your thoughts.

Continuation of February article by Bud & Gladys Martin...AND THE AUCTION BEAT GOES ON...

As is usually the case, Mickey's write-in bids represent 15-20% of the successful bids, which keep prices in line and helps the seller. Somehow, we got the winning bid and came home with a beautiful marigold Singing Birds Pitcher.

Living in Arkansas, we rarely receive much snow and it is usually gone that afternoon or the next day. So, our trip home was like driving through a winter wonderland. The tops of the bare tree limbs looked as if they had been painted white, the evergreen's boughs were flocked with snow and bending to the ground and the barren fields were white as far as the eye could see. But, that is the beautiful part of it and we surely sympathize with the people who have recently receiving "tons" of snow in the North and Northeast.

Until next time, HAPPY COLLECTING TO ALL!
Bud & Gladys Martin
