OCTAGON WINE DECANTERS

By Alan and Lorraine Pickup

Imperial's Octagon pattern can be found in many shapes and colors but when it comes to the wine decanters and wine glasses, marigold is unquestionably the most prevalent color found. It could be considered as the easiest Imperial wine set to be found. Other colors in Octagon wine sets are definitely a challenge to find.

We picture here the common marigold decanter and wine on the left. The purple top-less decanter in the center is our newest find and we regarded it as a must buy even without the top. It is pictured with a purple wine that can be found now and then. To its right is an olive green decanter with an olive green wine. The Imperial glass color olive green seems to be not an often seen Imperial glass color. We do have another example of this olive green glass in an Imperial Heavy Grape chop plate. Neither the Octagon wine decanter nor the Heavy Grape chop plate are listed in olive green in the conventional carnival glass guidebooks.

This olive green decanter was bought from an Ohio carnival glass collector. And the purple decanter was purchased on eBay from a glass dealer in Argentina. Where does this olive green decanter color rank in rarity? We really don't know. But we note that the Carl Burn's Imperial book does list a Helios green decanter and wine glasses and declares it even scarcer than the purple set. A purple wine glass sold recently on eBay for a whopping $175.27 plus the related cost of shipping. We do have one cobalt blue wine glass and wine glasses are also reported in Helios green, aqua and a super rare white.

Another tough item to find is the elusive marigold Octagon cordial. Be aware that many of the four-inch tall marigold wine glasses are offered on eBay as the smaller three and one half inch tall cordial.

CONDOLENCES

Eleanor Hamilton, the wife of Jack Hamilton, and long-time member of HOACGA, passed away on Wednesday, May 24th. Eleanor had fractured her hip and had undergone surgery for the fracture. She was in a rehab care center at the time of her death. We will certainly miss her and send condolences to her family.

Late word is that Jack Hamilton suffered a heart attack and also passed away the week following Eleanor's death. Carnival Glass collectors will certainly feel the loss of such a nice couple.

They leave behind a single daughter whom cards may be sent to at the following address:

HEAVY VINE - aka Balmoral

By Barb Chamberlain

If you like simple, but elegant, patterns that can be found in a variety of shapes, then adding pieces in the Heavy Vine pattern to your collection will be fun. This pattern was made in Czechoslovakia, most probably by the Rindskopf Company, according to Glen and Stephen Thistlewood in their books. Their reasoning came from an advertisement in the British Pottery Gazette that showed the Balmoral pattern, which someone has since named Heavy Vine, because of the incised vine in a panel around the pieces. The National Glass Company who was the advertiser of the Balmoral items made reference to them being made in Czechoslovakia. Most likely, the advertisement was for crystal glass in the pattern.

The Thistlewoods report that there were seventy different shapes made in crystal. Perhaps as time goes on, many more shapes will be reported in carnival glass. At this time, the only reported color in carnival glass is marigold.

The most known shapes in carnival glass are the dresser set pieces, which include a tumble up set, covered powder jars in different sizes, an oblong pin tray, a ring tree, and pictured in Edwards'/Carwile's Encyclopedia, are two sizes of stopped colognes, and an atomizer. Thistlewoods show a butter dish and water pitcher. Doty prices a covered 3 1/2" bowl, mini rose bowl, shot glass, and two sizes of tumblers, as well as the dresser pieces.

He also shows a photo that he received from Patricia Walther of Buenos Aires, that shows a jug, four sizes of stemware, and a wine decanter. Knowing Carl and Eunice Booker had several pieces of Heavy Vine, I contacted them, and they reported that they have four different sizes of stemware - 6 3/4", 6 3/8", 4 1/2", and 3 3/4". They also have a lamp, which they believe might have been converted from one of the cologne bottles.

Carl and Eunice believe that there might be a size of stemware between the 6 3/8" and 4 1/2". They weren't sure what size a claret would be, so I decided to check other glass stem sizes and their identification as to what they were called. I discovered that it was the amount of liquid the glass held that really determined the name. The cordials are the smallest only holding 3/4 oz. to 1 oz. Wine glasses varied from holding 2 1/2 oz. to 5 oz. The clarets ranged from 4 oz. to 5 oz., while water goblets held 9 oz. to 10 oz. It appears to me, since a claret is a type of wine, perhaps it depended on how much you wanted to drink as to what size the glass was that you used!!!

Pictured with this article is our stemmed that is about 6 3/8" tall that holds only three ounces. Now, since this is one of the taller sizes, what shape do you say we call this? Of course we, who collect carnival glass, know what size is generally referred as a wine glass in our hobby.

Since there is a butter dish known in carnival glass, are there other pieces of a table set known? Do you have another shape or color in the Heavy Vine pattern? If so, please let either Eleanor Mochel or me know, and we'll include it in a future bulletin.

I want to thank Carl and Eunice Booker for their input on this pattern for inclusion in this article.

UPDATE ON ORANGE PEEL

By Barb Chamberlain

Patricia Atwater from Canada has reported and sent photos showing an amber Orange Peel custard cup that belongs to her son and daughter-in-law. This is the cup with the flames from which it would be nearly impossible to drink. She also included a photo of her marigold custard cup with flames. Thanks to Patricia for the additional information.

DUGAN'S ROUNDUP

By Carl and Eunice Booker

This beautiful, purple, Roundup bowl was shown at the September 18, 2004, meeting of the Hoosier Carnival Glass Association. It is almost flat, but the edges turn up just a bit. Our strictest definition would be a very low bowl in the ice cream shape. The iridescence on this bowl is outstanding. It has a very happy home with a lot of its brothers and sisters in different shapes and colors.

The Roundup pattern was made by the Dugan Glass Company. Mrs. Hartung gave it this name in Book III, page 91, of her Carnival Glass Book series. Mrs. Presznick gave this pattern the name "Egyptian Band." Mrs. Hartung makes the following statement: "...while we think of Carnival patterns in terms of fruits and flowers or imitations of cut glass, here is one refreshing in its unique flavor." Both Hartung and Doty refer to the lines or figures on the inner ring of these pieces and state that they look like western brands used on cattle, thus the name.

The Roundup pieces may be found in nine-inch bowls and nine-inch plates. The bowls may be ruffled, ice cream, or three-in-one shape.

The Roundup pieces come in a variety of colors as follows:

Amber; Amethyst/Purple; Blue; Lavender; Marigold; Peach opal; White

Some pieces may be found in a deep purple referred to as Oxblood. Peach Opal seems to be the most available color with Marigold quite hard to find.

NEXT REGULAR HOACGA MEETING

By Ed Kramer

The next regular bi-monthly meeting of HOACGA is scheduled for Sunday, June 25, 2006 at the home of Bob Grissom, 7517 Evanston, Raytown, MO (call if you need directions 816-356-5320).

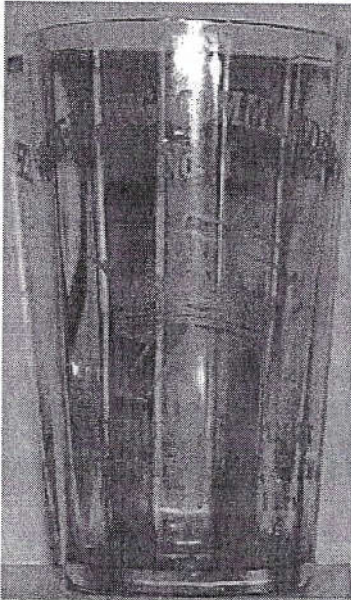

We will discuss green carnival glass.

WHEELING COMMANDERY #1

By Bob Smith

Every now and then a collector upon reviewing a carnival item will show their appreciation by remarking that it is a museum piece. That happens to be the case with this very rare little Masonic souvenir juice tumbler. I happened upon the museum website after acquiring the tumbler. If you would like to view it in full color after reading this article, you can see it at:

http://www.phoenixmasonry.org/masonicmuseum/KT_1910_wheeling_glass.htm

All collectors have probably seen one of the elaborately enameled clear iridized Shriner's champagne glasses. This tumbler is also clear iridized, but more intensely iridized which results in a rainbow of colors. The Shriner's champagne has been attributed to the US Glass Company and it seems that most likely that US Glass also made this one. Given that Wheeling is located in the midst of an area with many glass factories, the attribution to the US Glass with its prior experience making such pieces it seems to be the best of many choices.

The tumbler is nicely engraved on just one side of it. Below Wheeling Commandery #1 is an engraved crown with a leaning cross inside of the crown. Below that in Gothic script are the words Knights Templar. And below that in three lines of Roman type print are the words Sistersville, W VA, May 18th and 19th, 1910. It appears that all these types of Masonic clear iridized glasses were made in the very early years of carnival glass.

As you can see from its measurements it also might have served as slightly large shot glass as well as a juice glass, but have you ever come across a person who actually served anything in a souvenir glass - strictly a cabinet item.

It's height is 3-1/2" x 2-1/16" rim and a 1-1/2" clear base. Around the inside of the tumbler there are 16 faint panels. This one must be considered very rare.

Happy Hunting!

HELLO FROM IOWA

From Vicki Gearhart

I wanted to share some of the fun we were able to enjoy at HOACGA Convention this year. This was well attended as they all seem to be. Great glass and great people to visit with. We have gone to this convention quite a few times over our 9 years of collecting and we continue to make new friends. I truly loved the vase display – just a total knockout with so many beautiful and rare vases. This is so nice of the members to take the time to bring and share items with the group. The main club members continue to work so hard and many, many hours to ensure things go as planned. It was so much fun. The room displays were also very pretty some members set up so much glass you thought you stepped back in time in a shop with all the best pieces on display.

The hotel really filled up and some of us were assigned to higher floors than normal. This year we were on the 7th floor but we were at least had a room, as some people had to stay at other hotels. All I can say is "Get your reservations in quickly." Once the HOACGA bulletin announces the phone number I recommend you call in - so you can be sure to get a room. There were quite a few other groups at the Hotel this year. Even though we were way up high we still had really good traffic in the room as I placed signs in the elevators to please come visit us on the 7th floor and many did. We actually seemed to have more than normal people visiting this year. This makes it a lot of fun when people get out and visit the rooms. We ourselves didn't get out as much as we would have liked as we had so many visiting us.

The auction was great fun. The Wroda Auction Team really had the place a jumpin' with the way they called out the bids. I told my husband I was at a Wroda auction a couple years ago and it was pretty normal for an auction - you know kind of quiet. I did enjoy the change. I said this was almost like being at a ho-down, all we needed was some bails of straw, square dancers, crocks of home brew you know the ones that say XXX on tv and some music.

This year the men that spot the bids were standing up on wooden boxes made especially for them to get some height to see all the bids in the room. As a hand would raise to bid on an item in the auction - one of the spotters would yell out "YEAH" "BA" "WHOE" "YES" I have no idea what some of the calls were but they were LOUD and sure surprised a lot of us and definitely got the crowd excited. It was almost comical and as I looked around I could see people smiling at times even laughing a little. These guys were really getting into the calling and seemed one tried to "out yell" the others. I definitely got a chuckle. This was so neat. I tell you there were no people dozing off at that auction.

The auction glass of course was top notch and very beautiful. There were some record breaking prices and some items were bought at a bargain. So don't think all the items at big auctions get top dollar. There is something for every price range at these auctions. I never dreamt we'd have a chance at much, but you have to attend and you will likely be very pleased with the items that do fall within your price range.

I had a couple say they missed reading my articles but the truth is we have not been doing a lot these days in the way of adding new glass to our collection. We bought a newer home 3 years ago and my two daughters have recently each purchased their first homes. So we have been using the extra time and money in houses right now. We will continue to collect and stay in touch with the fun people in this hobby. Next year HOACGA will have another great auction as the glass selling from John Muelbauer's collection we all know will be some of the best color and iridescence offered. Again don't think that there is not anything in your price range there are always a few surprises. If you can you should attend. Even if you don't come to buy glass, you'll enjoy the convention, the people, and the beautiful glass.

THANK YOU, HOACGA

By Carl & Eunice Booker

Eunice and I would like to thank the executive board of HOACGA for selecting us to receive the John and Lucile Britt Award at the 2006 convention. It is very meaningful to us as we knew John and Lucile and had great respect for them. It was doubly meaningful to have their daughter, Aileen Oppenlander, make the presentation.

The "kind" words about us from Bob Grissom, Carl Schroeder, Brian Pitman, John Muehlbauer, and Floyd Whitley will remain in our minds for a very long time. We're still trying to figure out who was riding in the "short bus!"

Again, thank you for the honor. We will keep the commemorative vase in a safe place as it is very beautiful with a wonderful inscription.

HOACGA CONVENTION REPORT - 2006

By Bob Grissom

The 35th Annual HOACGA CONVENTION WAS A CONVENTION TO REMEMBER. Members started arriving and setting up their displays and glass for sale as early as Tuesday. By Wednesday evening about 60 rooms were occupied. In all, over 125 of the Embassy Suite rooms were occupied by HOACGA members, socializing, buying and selling, and enjoying all of the convention activities. Several members commented that there was a special atmosphere and excitement about this convention. The auctioning of the BLUE PEOPLE'S vase seemed to be at the center of the conversation and excitement.

In order to provide the activities that we all enjoy at the convention, it requires a lot of help. A big "THANK YOU" goes to these people for their help in making the convention enjoyable for all of those attending. Ann McMorris at the registration desk, along with help from Steve Hazlett & Don Lacock. Cliff and JoAnn Ball for their helping with the silent auction and the many other details they always attend to during the convention. A special THANKS to these members that were responsible for setting up and removing the special Vase Display, Charles & Eleanor Mochel, Daryl & Norma Strohm, Gail Eichhorst, Bob & Geneva Leonard, Ron & Judy Britt, Galen & Kathi Johnson, Jerry & Carol Curtis and Don Lacock.

Ed Kramer did his usual outstanding job of obtaining, assembling, and organizing the items for the "Silent Auction." Thank you Ed for another job well done. Also, thanks to those members that donated glass, all of the funds obtained from this go to defray some of the expenses of the convention.

CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS:

- The winners of the $1000.00 drawing were Todd & Susan Kuwitzky of Omaha, Nebraska; they were quite surprised when their name was called. They were present at the Banquet. Thanks to all of those who participated.
- Those who arrived by Wednesday evening were served Pizza, they were able to consume about 20. After the Pizza, "Dirty Bingo" was enjoyed with four people finally winning the prizes of some Fenton Animals. Thanks to Norma Strohm for wrapping the gifts.
- Forty Perkins pies were served for the Thursday evening hospitality, after the educational talk. Pie and coffee always seems to be a favorite item for the members.
- Cake and coffee was served during and after the Auction Glass viewing on Friday evening. Thanks to Nadine Paulsen for baking and bringing the cakes to the convention.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS:

- Thursday afternoon Dr. Roy Heiger presented an educational talk on Imperial "GEOMETRIC" patterns. He displayed about 75 different pieces and discussed each one. Dr Heiger is very knowledgeable about Imperial glass and a very capable speaker on this subject. His presentation was very informative. He also added some humor with several other stories.
- Thursday evening Dr. David Shetlar presented a program on "STRETCH GLASS". He displayed many examples of Stretch Glass and explained their differences to Carnival Glass. Dr Shetlar is a long time Stretch Glass collector. It was a very educational talk and discussion of the differences between Carnival & Stretch glass was very interesting.

VASE DISPLAY:

Thursday morning the members started bringing their Vases for the display. Thirty-six members participated by bringing vases from their collection. Again, thanks to all of those who were willing to pack up their glass and share part of their collection for this program. Some members came by air, so they had to travel long distances with the vases on their lap, then they had to return the same way. We very much appreciate your effort. When they were all finally in place, there were 325 vases on display. It was a very impressive display of Carnival Glass. The willingness of members to participate makes these displays possible. Members make many favorable comments about the special glass displays. A SPECIAL THANKS TO ALL OF THE MEMBERS THAT PARTICIPATE IN THE SPECIAL GLASS DISPLAYS. Your response to requests to bring glass is very much appreciated. For those people that are getting all of the Carnival Glass knowledge and buying only on E-Bay, you are missing a lot of real Carnival Glass education - and a good time.

On Friday morning Kevin & April Clark presented an hour discussion of the vases on display. Their knowledge and discussion of the vases added much information to the display. SPECIAL THANKS to Joan Doty. I prepare an identification tag for each piece in the special display, and I always call on Joan to provide the necessary help to be able to printout all of this information on the name cards.

About 150 members attended the luncheon on Friday where the "JOHN AND LUCILE BRITT AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN CARNIVAL GLASS" was presented to Carl & Eunice Booker. Both Carl & Eunice taught school at the Franklin Elementary School in Griffith, Indiana. Carl is a graduate of Indiana University and Eunice graduated from Ball State University. They were married in June 1964. They started their carnival glass collecting in 1969 and have been active in many of the Carnival clubs, especially the Hoosier Carnival Club, ICGA & ACGA where they have served as Board Members and also as Bulletin Secretary. They have given educational talks and written articles for many of the Carnival clubs. Carl Schroeder, Brian Pittman, John Muehlbauer and Floyd Whitley presented information and amusing anecdotes about the Bookers. The Bookers are well deserving of this award.

Thanks to Jerry & Carol Curtis for counting the Room Display ballots and distributing the Room Display awards, each person with a display received a cobalt blue "Eyewinker Spittoon". The displays were all outstanding. Much planning and work had gone into the displays. Most everyone attending the convention wants to get around to see all of the displays. A lot of very rare and unusual patterns are shown in the various displays. They are very much an educational part of any convention. Those judged the best were:

"My Favorite Things"	Bob & Linda Williams
"Spring Holiday In Green"	Gale Eichhorst
"Danger High Voltage"	Gail Westphall
"Heavy Grape"	Galen & Kathi Johnson
"Dragons"	Daryl & Norma Strohm

Many people commented about how nice all of the displays were. A lot of effort went into the displays. A big "THANK YOU" for all of the members who had a display.

AUCTION:

The much anticipated auction glass was viewed on Friday evening until about 10:00 P.M. It was opened again on Saturday morning from 7 to 9 A.M. Jim Wroda and his auction personnel did an outstanding job of presenting the glass for viewing and also for conducting the auction from start to finish. The auction moved along at a good pace and both the Sellers, Pete & Paula Bingham and the Auctioneer were pleased with the auction results. The Buyers were able to obtain some very nice pieces to take home to their collection.

The auction set two records, one for the highest piece of Carnival to sell at auction, $100,000.00 and also the most total dollars for an auction of only one individuals collection.

BANQUET:

- The convention activities finished with the banquet on Saturday evening with 145 members attending. The clubs' Secretary, Ann McMorris, was responsible for the table decorations of KANSAS yellow Sunflowers. The table favors this year were the cobalt blue "Eyewinker" toothpick holder. Thanks to all of the ladies that helped Ann with the table decorations and the placing of the Table Favors at each place. With the yellow Sunflowers with their blue vase and the cobalt blue toothpicks, the banquet room looked very festive.

- Cliff Ball, the HOACGA Treasurer, was our Banquet speaker. Cliff and wife JoAnn have been married for 57 years and have five children. Cliff is retired from Hallmark Cards where he was responsible for the appearance (eye appeal) of the Hallmark stores. They have been collecting Carnival Glass for about 13 years. In his presentation, Cliff related how some of the Carnival patterns from his collection brought back memories of when he was a young person growing up in western and central Kansas during the Depression and Dust Bowl days. It was a very interesting presentation and one that many of us could relate to. The talk was very enjoyable and informative.

- A Big Thanks to the Wroda Auction Co. for auctioning the 25 Whimseys. The Rose Bowl made from the Frank Fenton 85th Birthday Red Holly plate sold for $925.00!

We are looking forward to the 2007 Convention when we celebrate Carnival Glass' 100th Birthday!

The John Muehlbauer collection will be sold at the 2007 Convention, giving collectors another chance to purchase some outstanding carnival glass pieces.

We hope you are making plans to join us for a very enjoyable and exciting time!

$100,000.00 AUCTION - 2006

By Bob Grissom

The 2006 HOACGA Convention will be one that will be talked about and remembered for several years. When members starting arriving on Tuesday and all through the convention there was a feeling of excitement and expectation. Pete and Paula Bingham's outstanding collection was to be auctioned. Besides the BLUE PEOPLE'S vase the collection contained many other very fine pieces. There are many TOP RARITIES, but the one that has gotten the most attention has been the PEOPLE'S vases.

NOTE: Much of the notoriety the PEOPLE'S vases have attained is due in a large part to Floyd & Cecil Whitley. They have had a part in the history of these vases and have been willing to display (three of the four known colors) and have people view them in their home.

About 10 years ago, Auctioneer John Woody, predicted that by the year 2000 a piece of Carnival Glass would sell at auction for $100,000.00 or more. His timing was off but the amount was not. At the 2006 HOACGA Convention the BLUE PEOPLES VASE was auctioned and the winning bid was $100,000.00. This was the first item to be auctioned, when the bidding started the opening bid was $55,000.00 and moved to $85,000.00 very quickly and it took a few more minutes to get to the final bid.

The winners were STACY & DESIREE WILLS the new owners, PETE & PAULA BINGHAM the sellers, JIM WRODA Auctioneer for auctioning the first piece of carnival glass for $100,000.00!

Floyd & Cecil Whitley and Marie McGee were at the auction, so several photo's were taken of this historic event. The Whitleys the previous owners, Pete and Paula Bingham, Stacy & Desiree Wills, Jim Wroda, auctioneer, and Marie McGee (Mrs Millersburg).

In the past there have been some historic collections sold that are always referred to as some of the great ones, i.e, the Collier , the Wishard, the Bacon, the Seale, and the Whitley auctions. The Bingham auction will be one of those that will be in the same category as these auctions and will be remembered and talked about for many years.

Some of the members at the auction were having a lot of fun with all of the excitement, they had on T-shirts that had been marked "We can run with the Big Dogs".

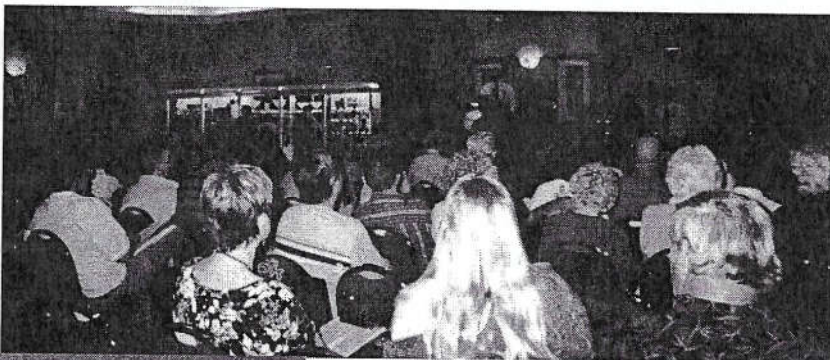

Many choice pieces of Carnival Glass traded hands at this auction, many of these have found a new home and it will be many years before they appear again.

HOACGA would like to THANK the Bingham's for bringing their collection to the 2006 convention, and the Wroda Auction Co. for doing such an outstanding job of the advertising and displaying it for viewing by those attending. We are proud to be a part of this historic time in the Carnival Glass story.

HOACGA BOARD MEETING

MAY 16, 2006

By Ann McMorris, Secretary

The HOACGA Board of Directors met in Lawrence on May 16, 2006. Present were President Grissom, Vice President Lacock, Secretary McMorris and Bulletin Editor Mochel. Treasurer Ball had a prior commitment and could not attend but sent reports on the convention finances.

Treasurer Ball reported convention receipts of $11,616 and expenses to date of $5,811.60. He noted the auctioneer fee had not been received and there is still a balance due at Embassy Suites of $5,157.43 and payment due to Fenton Glass Co. for one third of the proceeds for ten whimsys provided by Fenton and auctioned off at the banquet. A complete report will be forthcoming.

Board approved the payment of $300 honorarium to Cliff Ball for the banquet presentation.

Secretary reported receipts from Special $1000 check drawing were $1,540. There were 207 persons registered for the convention. Meals were well attended – 127 at lunch and 143 at the banquet.

Actions Taken

At future conventions, room display judging will be conducted by a selected panel as only a small number of those attending turned in their ballots. Category choices will again be offered

No hotel room reservations will be made by HOACGA officers for members in the future. All members must contact the hotel and make their own reservations.

2006 Convention critique - Overall the convention was very successful and many of those attending have commented on the great time they enjoyed. The Board is always seeking to improve the programs and activities at the convention.

2007 Convention plans were discussed. This included (1) possible speakers and subjects; (2) changes in times for various functions; (3) special display which will be 50 pieces each from the four major glass companies and possibly four presenters who collect especially for glass from each company. (4) midnight auction; (5) adding a seminar; (6) possible airport pickup.

President Grissom will contact Fenton regarding possibly having a souvenir for 2007.

RESULTS OF SILENT AUCTION HOACGA CONVENTION-2006

By Ed Kramer

HOACGA acknowledges with our thanks our contributors to the 2006 Silent Auction. We raised $1207.00 which provides significant help toward expenses involved with putting on a quality convention and with other club expenses.

ANNUAL HOACGA MEETING
HEART OF AMERICA CARNIVAL GLASS ASSOCIATION
APRIL 28, 2006, EMBASSY SUITES, KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI
By Ann McMorris

President Bob Grissom called the annual meeting of HOACGA to order. He recalled the first convention was held in 1972 in Overland Park. The bylaws require an annual meeting be held on the 4th Friday of April.

Secretary Ann McMorris read the minutes of the annual meeting held on April 22, 2005. It was moved and seconded the minutes be approved as read. Motion carried.

Treasurer Cliff Ball reported finances for the club were in a sound position at the end of the fiscal year ending February 28, 2006. To curtail expenses which were exceeding income the previous year, the Board decided to reduce the number of club newsletters from twelve to eight a year. A major saving to the club was realized and this reduction in number of issues has been well accepted by the membership. This fiscal year income exceeded expenses by $4,905. A printed report of income and expenses for FY 2005-2006 was provided members present and a copy is attached to the official minutes. It was moved and seconded, the Treasurer's report be approved. Motion carried.

It was reported the annual audit of the Club's books was performed on April 1, 2006 by the Board members. The Treasurer has filed income tax reports even though no tax is due.

The year 2007 marks the 100th anniversary of the manufacturing of carnival glass and this occasion will be the theme of our 2007 Convention for seminars and speakers. The group present were asked for suggestions which were: extend the convention a day and have more speakers and seminars; have a display of possibly 50 pieces from each glass manufacturer. It was announced that the 2007 auction would be the John Muehlbauer collection by Wroda Auction Company.

Election of officers was held. Officers elected were Vice President, Treasurer and Bulletin Secretary. Current officers had agreed to run for re-election. President asked for nominations from the floor. There were none forthcoming so the nominations were closed. Elected to a two-year term ending in 2008 were: Don Lacock, Delia, Kansas - Vice President; Cliff Ball, Olathe, Kansas - Treasurer; Eleanor Mochel, Overland Park, Kansas, Bulletin Secretary.

Announcements

The 2007 Convention will be held at the Embassy Suites, Kansas City, Missouri.
Carl and Eunice Booker thanked the club for the honor of receiving the Britt Award
President Grissom was commended for his efforts and time expended in handling the club business.
Dates and places of various carnival glass club conventions were announced.

Some Sad News

By Ed Kramer

Bob Grissom called Wednesday the 24th of May to say he had heard from Jack Hamilton that Eleanor had passed away. She had not been in good health lately and died while convalescing from hip surgery. Eleanor was well known for her collection of miniatures and small plates. She and Jack had given several presentations at Texas and HOACGA Conventions and were active in both clubs and International as well. Jack is known for helping Eleanor with the carpentry of many beautiful room displays, his Carnival glass jewelry making and his carnival glass bottle collection.

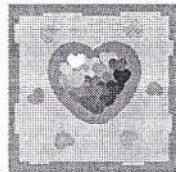

We all have our mentors in carnival glass and the Hamiltons were my early and long standing ones. When I first met them at HOACGA I was just coming to the conventions after work and not really attending all the events. They were so nice to me and we had many enjoyable visits and I learned a lot from them. They always said my Dad who came to the conventions with me reminded them of Eleanor's Dad.

I heard the story of how Eleanor didn't like milk until as a little girl she spied a carnival glass mug at her Grandmother's and asked if she could drink her milk from it. After that she liked milk better and carnival glass a lot. She was a petite lady with a big heart and the world of carnival glass will sparkle a little less brightly without her.

P.S. We have heard that Jack Hamilton died of a heart attack within a week of Eleanor's passing. We will miss them both.
